

Abstract

A computer based system and method for acquiring sets of documents related to respective entities, processing the text of each document into subject, action, object (SAO) format, and displaying one or more S or AO folders in rank order in association with the respective entity to identify the activities, estimate each entity activity level with respect to specific Ss or AOs. In one example, technology activity and technical problem solving can be discerned and compared between entities.